

Stephen's metal sculpture

Ron Stephens, reduction high fire stoneware potter, painter and sheet metal sculpture, was born in Kitchener, Ontario. At High School, he took a potters course. The craft came naturally to him.

After Graduation, Ron hitch-hiked west in the late 70's and found work at a pottery supply house in Calgary, Alberta. In 1983, Ron started his own wheel thrown high-fire production pottery business near Vancouver B.C., distributing his wares throughout the west for 20 years.

His current love and inspiration is metal sculpture. Ron designs and produces by hand a full line of honest depictions of wildlife and domestic creatures. Ron delights in bringing metal to life by hand-cut, bending and welding and then by allowing the west coast humidity to slowly rust the surface to develop a finish on each piece that is unique, variable and natural.
