

Ironwood carvings

Ironwood is one of the densest woods in the world. This species is found only in the Pacific coast areas, growing to an altitude of 2,500 feet above sea level. The carvings, which are handcrafted, are a family tradition handed down from generation to generation.

As weathered ironwood becomes harder to obtain, the collector's value of these sculptures increases.