

Carla's Silver

Carla says:- “The jewellery you choose reflects who you are at this moment.

You are unique, and special, and the sum of everything that has come before. It’s that aesthetic that I try to bring to every piece of jewellery I create.

Each is handmade, and therefore distinctive. Pieces borrow from a classical style, but with an added touch of whimsy to make them exceptional. They are heirloom pieces that you can wear for a long time, and then when you’re done your daughter will “borrow” it from you. My jewellery evolves because I do. It keeps my work fresh and my clients happy, because they too are evolving.

I hope my jewellery inspires you.
